1. Read the following poem.

I saw a puffing elephant
Trying to use a fancy phone
I said, "Please let me help you."
He said, "Leave me alone."
"I'm trying to be friendly."
But I spoke to him in vain.
So I took a flashing photograph
Then thanked him all the same.

When I got home I looked at it,
I saw the booth and the phone.
But the elephant was not there.
"He was a phantom," I declare.
My nephew just smiled at me,
Philip is his name.
"Forget that phantom elephant,
Put this photo in a frame."
